

Upper Peninsula Small Businesses Getting $105,000 In First Round Of Grants

The Central Upper Peninsula Small Business Support Hub (the Hub) has awarded a total of $105,875 to small businesses across the Upper Peninsula, marking the successful completion of its first Direct Grant cycle and laying the groundwork for the remaining three cycles to support local entrepreneurs.

The Hub is a collaboration of regional economic development organizations that aims to empower small businesses by providing resources, guidance, and funding to foster economic growth in the Upper Peninsula. Over the course of the Hub's operations, more than $400,000 will be available in direct grants to businesses who work with their County's designated Hub Small Business Resource Navigator and participate in at least one Hub program, event, or service within 6 months prior to the Award.

The first grant cycle saw a diverse range of businesses across the region benefit from this initiative, with awards distributed as follows:

About the Hub

In November 2023, the Michigan Economic Development Corporation announced $73 million in grant awards to establish Small Business Support Hubs across the state. A group of local economic development organizations collaborated to apply for funds and were awarded a total of $3,426,015 over three years to set up and operate the Central Upper Peninsula Small Business Support Hub ("the Hub"), covering Alger, Baraga, Delta, Dickinson, Marquette, Menominee, and Schoolcraft counties.

The Hub is made possible through collaboration with many partners including the Lake Superior Community Partnership, Accelerate U.P., Innovate Marquette SmartZone, Northern Michigan University, Small Business Development Center Upper Peninsula Region, Keweenaw Bay Indian Community, and Sault Tribe Thrive.
